It follows from simple application of ergodic theorems that the estimate should be, with great probability, valid within a few per cent.