a configuration of very low weight. So the method we employ is actually a modified Monte Carlo scheme, where, instead of choosing configurations randomly, then weighting them with $\exp(-E/kT)$, we choose